UPJOHN'S GLADIOLUS LIST

JANUARY, 1932

D. H. UPJOHN

964 South Liberty Street

SALEM, OREGON

WHY PEOPLE BUY OUR BULBS.

From Mr. H. W. Morris, 2433 Woodward Ave., Pittsburgh Pa., we received the following letter this fall. This tells the story so well about our bulbs we reprint it for your benefit:

"Never fail to thank him who favors you by word or deed' an oft repeated paternal injunction recurs to my mind as the Gladiolus seasons draws to a close. The fine bulbs ordered from you have certainly surpassed my fondest expectations and have brought my Gladiolus season to a most successful climax. Ideal weather conditions, frequent fertilization, consistent and intensive cultivation were contributing factors, of course, but the real secret lay hidden in the bulbs themselves.

"My garden has never shown such immense spikes and such wonderful colors, yet I have been a Glad fan for fifteen years although my first trial of your bulbs. Your Yellow Wonder produced spikes which as cut flowers were 36 to 37 inches tall and developed from 17 to 19 immense flowers each. The 25 first size bulbs of this variety have increased to 43, almost doubled. Crinkles—and what a beauty she is—increased from 25 to 38. Yellow Wonder, John T. Pirie, R. J. Kunderd and Crinkles are a quartette sure to please the most fastidious. I had the pleasure of seeing in bloom this summer two collections ordered from you at my suggestion and am glad to say that both quite surpassed expectations and you have made two more friends. And I must not forget your very generous number of complimentary bulbs. In your No. 5 size every one bloomed. The quality and pep of your bulbs certainly were innovations to me and my success seems to prove the popular idea that out in Oregon everything grows big. Awaiting your next catalogue and wishing you many 'happy landings' of customers, I am, very truly yours."

(Signed) H. W. MORRIS

From such information as we have been able to gather the country's Gladiolus crop as a whole is none too large this year although with our facilities for irrigation and intensive cultivation ours looks in the field of as high a standard as any we have ever grown. But we suggest early ordering. Inquiries we have received so far are in excess of anything we have received in the past and interest in Gladiolus seems to be showing a marked increase from year to year throughout the nation. We ship Gladiolus to every state in the Union and a number of foreign countries. Our bulbs are grown under the best of conditions, irrigated and handled right, stored in a modern warehouse and thousand of pleased customers reflect the care and attention given to our bulbs and their shipment.
